I,_____, am aware of the lack of course availability guarantee at University college Dublin. I realize that by electing to enroll there for the fall or spring semester only, I may not be able to have the same course load that I would if I were spending the semester at Notre Dame. I agree to participate in the Dublin Program regardless of whether the available courses fulfill my requirements or not.

I am also aware that the offerings that University College Dublin lists online and elsewhere may change at any time up until the start of the fall semester of any academic year. I will work closely with my engineering advisor for my specific engineering major, the Director of Academic Affairs, and all other relevant faculty members to face any such scheduling challenges that arise prior to and after my arrival in Dublin.

In addition, I am aware of the program withdrawal policy of the Office of International Studies. I understand that should I choose to withdraw from the program for any reason, I will incur a withdrawal fee in an amount that varies based upon the amount of time passed since written confirmation of enrollment and will pay any fees that the University of Notre Dame has made on my behalf at University College Dublin, possibly including my flight.

My choice to participate in the ND Dublin Program and study at University College Dublin is made with full understanding of all associated risks. Ms. Peggy Weber has ensured that my understanding is complete and as such, I will not hold the Office of International Studies liable for any course scheduling problems I may face. I accept full responsibility for my decision and whatever consequences arise as a result.
