Notre Dame’s Rome Global Gateway, in collaboration with Italian Studies at Notre Dame, invites individual scholars or groups of scholars—including graduate students and postdoctoral fellows—to propose individual and/or scholarly projects in connection with the Biblioteca Ambrosiana.

Projects eligible for funding might include:

- Individual research projects that make use of Biblioteca Ambrosiana holdings in Milan or at Notre Dame.

- Group projects, including workshops and seminars that utilize holdings of the Ambrosiana Library. Such projects might take place at the Biblioteca Ambrosiana, at Notre Dame, or at the Rome Global Gateway.

- Lectures or seminars to be presented by scholars associated with the Ambrosiana Library. Such lectures might take place at the Biblioteca Ambrosiana, at Notre Dame, or at Notre Dame’s Rome Global Gateway.

Application information:

- Deadline: Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis and awards will be made until all available funding for academic year 2015-2016 is used.

- Award Range: For group scholarly projects, the maximum award is $10,000 and for individuals, the maximum award is $2,500.

- Eligibility: Scholars including faculty, postdoctoral fellows and/or graduate students from Notre Dame proposing research using materials of the Biblioteca Ambrosiana, or collaborations with scholars affiliated with the Biblioteca Ambrosiana to be undertaken at the Biblioteca Ambrosiana in Milan, in the Rome Global Gateway, or at Notre Dame.

- Application materials: Please send a C.V., a proposal of less than 750 words that describes the project, and a detailed budget to italianstudies@nd.edu. Cost sharing is encouraged and should be included in the proposed budget.
