Faculty Short-Term Fellowships at Notre Dame's Rome Global Gateway

The University of Notre Dame's Rome Global Gateway invites applications for short-term fellowships from faculty in the College of Arts and Letters whose work would benefit from conducting research in Rome. The initiative is co-sponsored by Institute for Scholarship in the Liberal Arts and Notre Dame International.

Deadline: Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis; fellowships will be awarded until all available funding for the academic year 2016-17 is utilized.

Fellowship range: Award amounts will range from $2500 to $5000.

Eligibility: Faculty in the College of Arts and Letters who propose short-term research projects to be undertaken in Rome during the academic year 2016-17 and the summer of 2017.

Application: Interested faculty should submit a Small Research and Creative Works proposal through the ISLA online portal. Faculty members are only allowed one such grant per year.

These fellowships are intended to support short-term periods of research in residence in Rome—ranging from one week to one month—and include office space in the Rome Global Gateway and some assistance with arranging housing.
